

Ah shit, here we go again.

“Ahh sh*t. Here we go again.”

Presented by Alianna Panganiban

Description

- Topic: Traveling to campus and its effects on study habits
- Studying how people commute to NJIT,
 - How far they are from campus?
 - How does it affect the time they set aside to study?
- What strategies help students overcome these challenges with the time constraints of traveling to and from campus?

Rationale

- Relevance for students who attend the university
- Productivity levels
- Location
- Distance
- Time
 - Frequency
 - Duration

Methodology

- Semi Structured Interviews
 - Transcribed
 - Coded (Highlighting and analytical memos)

- 4 participants
- Random sampling (general interest)
 - Residents and visitors of the University Center apartment complex
 - Discord server of the Filipino organization
- Commuter and on campus living students

Findings

- Time management
 - Living arrangements
 - Transportation methods
 - Work/activities/social/relaxation

Findings (Cont.)

- Productivity during studying
 - Write down tasks from the start
 - Turn off distractions

Findings (Cont.)

- Resources
 - Tutoring Services/Writing Center
 - Longer hours in library?
 - More spaces?

Lessons Learned

- Had to discard one interview
 - I enhanced the quality of the questionnaire
- I learned
 - Differences in student's day to day routine
 - Manage time efficiently
 - Optimize productivity during study sessions
 - Take advantage of resources available
 - Prioritize well being